HOT HOLLYWOOD

Fashion Police has lost another deputy. On March 12, Kathy Griffin announced via Twitter that she was leaving the E! style critique after filming just seven episodes. In a lengthy post, the comic, 54, explained she felt some of the show's jokes hit below the (designer) belt. "There is plenty to make fun of in pop culture without bringing people's bodies into it," she wrote. "I do not want to use my comedy to contribute to a culture of unattainable perfectionism and intolerance towards difference." It was the same sentiment former co-host Kelly Osbourne had expressed 13 days earlier when she made an abrupt exit. (The 30-year-old took issue with an insensitive comment Giuliana Rancic made about pal Zendaya's dreadlocks.) "Kelly feels totally vindicated by Kathy quitting," says a show source. "They are both antibullying, and neither wanted to be associated with a program that tears people down. It's just not what they stand for."

KATHY GRIFFIN I QUIT!

ALL SEWN UP? With just Rancic and panelist Brad Goreski left to preside over the next episode on March 30, producers are hoping to lock in new hosts. One insider says NeNe Leakes, Chrissy Teigen and Amber Rose are under consideration, but another source questions whether anyone will really be able to save the beleaguered Police. "Joan Rivers was the glue that held everything together," says the source. "Now it's just a huge mess."

Griffin complained the show "wanted to do a running segment called 'Whore Score.'"

BARACK OBAMA

Hold the Phone!

» Dial D for delusional? Probed by Jimmy Kimmel March 12, Barack Obama denied Kanye West's March 2 claim that the president "calls the home phone." Noting that he has met the rapper, 37, twice, POTUS, 53, said, "Look, I love his music. . . . I don't think I've got his home number." A West source insists he made the remark in jest: "Not everything Kanye says should be taken literally."

"He's incredibly creative," Obama said of West (inset).

Due March 24, Jill (with Gary) plans to give birth at home in Arkansas.

JILL'S DELIVERY

» It's a boy . . . just not hers! Student midwife Jill Dillard, 23, aided a birth March 10, two weeks before her due date. "I previously delivered two of his older sisters," the star of TLC's 19 Kids and Counting Instagrammed of 8-pound Gary Martin Takehiro. Two days earlier, the employee of A Mommy's Butterfly Midwifery and husband of nine months Derick, 26, were showered at Olive Garden. "Thank you . . . Derick's church family," she wrote. "We were so blessed!"

★★★ CHUCK VS CHARLIE ★★★

Charlie Sheen is keyed up about his Two and a Half Men character's (second!) demise on the series' February 19 finale. (Refresher: A Sheen look-alike was killed by a falling piano.) "To go that low and be that immature . . . and that stupid? In my face?" Sheen, 49, told TMZ March 10, addressing Men's exec producer Chuck Lorre, 62, who fired him in 2011. "You must feel safe, motherf--ker . . . where you live." Lorre, however, stands by the winning end, telling Variety, "We wanted to go out guns blazing."

FEUDS OF THE WEEK

★★★ SEAN VS THE BACHELORETTE ★★★

Former Bachelor Sean Lowe is a one-woman man. After ABC announced Chris Soules' exes Britt Nilsson (top right) and Kaitlyn Bristowe will be competing Bachelorettes on the next season, Lowe, 31, blasted the twist as "degrading" March 10. "[It shifts] the power back to the men on the show specifically designed for the women," he wrote. But a source says execs were simply torn: "Producers couldn't pick just one girl!"

★★★ CHLOË VS JENNIFER ★★★

Jennifer Lawrence has tripped, burped and joked her way into hearts worldwide, but indie queen Chloë Sevigny is not impressed. The 40-year-old star of Netflix's Bloodline told V Magazine she cringes watching leading ladies promote movies. "They'll have a really peppy funny girl on the talk-show rounds, and everybody adores her . . . and wants to be her or f--k her," Sevigny said, adding, "Jennifer Lawrence I find annoying. Too crass." Not that the Oscar winner, 24, minds, says a source: "Jen thinks things like this are petty."

Studio exec John Lasseter said March 12, "We're taking you back to Arendelle."

TWICE AS ICE

» Call it kids' best week ever. One day before the March 13 release of Cinderella, Disney announced plans for a sequel to Frozen, which has grossed more than $1.2 billion to date and won fans like Blue Carter, 3, and North West, 21 months. Princess Anna (a.k.a. Kristen Bell, 34) is already warming up her pipes, captioning an Instagram post (inset), "Dreams really do come 2!"

REALLY?!

The most dramatic reveal in Bachelor history: Sean Penn watches with Charlize Theron! "We argue about whether or not we should fast [-forward]," the staid Oscar winner, 54, told Jimmy Kimmel March 12. "I don't really want to hear the conversations, I want to know the decisions. . . . And then see somebody get ecstatic and then see them cry." Ex-Bachelor Chris Soules tells Us he's "humbled and honored such influential people are fans of a farm boy from Iowa."

Penn's pick for Bachelorette? "Kaitlyn," the actor (with Theron, 39, Feb. 16) said.

How Wendy's® preps Romaine.

How other “salad places” prep Romaine.

You'd be surprised who's cutting corners on salads. Not Wendy's. We make our salads fresh every day, starting by hand-washing and hand-prepping whole heads of Romaine in our restaurants. Some other salad places often use Romaine that's processed in a factory and shipped pre-bagged, then served in a fancy bowl with a fancy price tag. At Wendy's, we believe it's not what your salad goes into, it's what goes into your salad.

It's time to look beyond the bowl at YouTube.com/Wendys.

Doug & Jamie

Another Aisle Trip!

To toast the approaching anniversary of their wedding — and meeting! — Married at First Sight's extreme-matchmaking success story Doug Hehner and Jamie Otis renewed their vows on St. Thomas. "The first time was glitzy with a big old dress, and I loved it, but I wanted this to be simple," Otis tells Us. The New Jersey-based Bachelor alum, 28, chose a $40 dress to wear when she remarried the sales rep, 32, at the January 25 ceremony. "I was overwhelmed by fear at our first wedding. Now I was just looking at Doug like, Wow, we made it."

Kevin & Eniko Enjoying Engagement

"I finally know how to treat a woman," Kevin Hart recently told Esquire. "Took me 35 years." The Get Hard star, 35 — who has daughter Heaven, 10, and son Hendrix, 7, with his first wife, Atlanta Exes' Torrei Hart — is granting model fiancée Eniko Parrish, 30, her dream day. "They thought about getting married this year," reveals a Hart source, "but with Kevin's schedule getting crazier by the second, waiting until 2016 meant they could do it right." Translation: splashy. Continues the insider, "Kevin and Eniko want a huge wedding. Her budget is more than enough for a party for the ages!"

Joel and Nicole's Nightlife

Joel Madden and Nicole Richie party as much as possible. "We invite people over for dinner a lot," VH1's Candidly Nicole star, 33, tells Us. "Home is important to me." Daughter Harlow, 6, and son Sparrow, 5, provide the entertainment. "My family has a good sense of humor," she adds. "Sparrow loves to make people laugh!"

Madden, 36, escorted his wife March 12 in West Hollywood.

Blake & Miranda Making Sweet Music

"Still on cloud 9!" Lambert posted of her Dallas gig March 13.

After waiting in the wings at wife Miranda Lambert's Oklahoma City concert March 6, Blake Shelton strode on stage to duet with her on "God Gave Me You." Six days later, the Voice mentor, 38, popped up again at her Dallas show. Joining the "Little Red Wagon" singer, 31, on his breaks solidifies their bond, Shelton tells Us: "That's just what we do. We get to each other."

The star keeps a personal shutterbug at the ready

Selfies just won't cut it for Kanye West. Before recent stops at Fashion Week in NYC, London and Paris with wife Kim Kardashian, 34, the self-proclaimed "creative genius" hired a personal photographer to document the pair's every move. "The photog takes thousands of shots a day, and Kanye pores over almost all of them," says a source close to the rapper, 37. "He'll point to a picture of himself standing at a desk and be like, 'This will go down in history.'" While the snapper is in charge of the camera, West handles the wardrobe. "Kanye will breeze into a store and immediately start pulling looks for Kim to try on," says the insider of the dad of 21-month-old daughter North. "He likes to pose her after he's picked out her outfits. He gets completely in the zone."

"He spends a lot of time figuring out what she'll wear," says a source of the pair (in Paris March 5).

She's Her Own Boss

Iggy Azalea doesn't need a stage for her drama. The Australian rapper, 24, blamed "production delays" for pushing back her Great Escape tour from spring to mid-September. But sources tell Hot Stuff the real problem is the "Fancy" singer's diva demands — including nights off to be courtside for boyfriend Nick Young's L.A. Laker games. "She insisted on putting her personal schedule and vacations with Nick above tour dates," alleges an insider. "There were a few dates where she basically said she wouldn't show up." (Her rep denies any trouble.) It wouldn't be the first time Azalea ditched her duties. "She's canceled major magazine shoots before," says the insider. Adds an Azalea source, "No one can tell her what to do."

Even tough guys need a little TLC. Two Biblical bros even broke bread at their Berbère Palace hotel. Says Sleiman, "Juan Pablo and I did as Jesus would have and had lunch together."

THEIR SECRET LOVE

A fling turns real thing! Nearly two years after their first hookup, Katie Holmes and Jamie Foxx are going strong BY KEVIN O'LEARY

Holmes and Foxx played footsie in February.

Foxx's extended family lives with him in his California compound.

Jamie Foxx was a wanted man during Grammy weekend. At Clive Davis' February 7 party, Miley Cyrus and Ricky Martin clamored for selfies with the singer-actor. And at the following night's awards, the Annie star presented Record of the Year with legend Stevie Wonder. But Foxx couldn't wait to get back to the woman he calls "my girl," according to an insider. Only among trusted friends, after all, can he and Katie Holmes be openly affectionate. "They have a flirty relationship," notes one mutual pal. "No strings attached."

Yes, two of Hollywood's most eligible singles are still hooking up. Since Us Weekly revealed

“THEY HAVE A BLAST. SHE KNOWS JAMIE WILL NEVER BE A RELATIONSHIP GUY, AND SHE DOESN'T WANT THAT FROM HIM.”
A MUTUAL PAL TELLS US

At an East Hampton, NY, benefit in August 2013, the two dirty danced . . .

their summer 2013 fling, the duo have managed to keep their trysts a secret from all but their closest confidants. Longtime pals, they stepped out of the friend zone when Foxx, 47, first wooed her at a benefit in August 2013 in the Hamptons. Holmes, 36, who had dramatically split from husband Tom Cruise, 52, a year earlier, entered into a carefree fling with the notorious playboy. She showed up in Miami, where he was hosting a 2014 New Year's party, and they rendezvoused in Phoenix over Super Bowl weekend. But most of the action happens at his place, multiple sources say. “Jamie is someone she can trust and have fun with,” explains the mutual pal. “She’s getting everything from Jamie that she didn’t get with Tom.”

▶THEIR LOVE STORY

At Foxx's 40-acre compound in the Santa Monica mountains, Holmes'

every wish is Foxx's command. “Jamie has literally anything you would want on a date,” says the mutual friend. Screening room to watch Oscar contenders? Check. A private chef to whip up dinner? Done. And there's always music. “They dance and just talk for hours,” says the pal. The single mom of Suri, 8, can stroll through his avocado grove, swim in his Olympic-size pool — or just enjoy a front-row seat at the Jamie Foxx show. “Katie loves that he makes her laugh,” says a Foxx insider. “He does amazing impressions of just about anyone. It's one of his best flirting techniques.”

As the two became closer, the Toledo, Ohio, native shared the secret with her inner circle. “Jamie likes to host little parties,” says the mutual pal, “and Katie will bring friends who know about the relationship.” But she's kept Suri in the dark. “Katie is not ready to introduce Jamie to Suri as her boyfriend,” adds the friend. “She doesn’t know if she ever will.” Foxx takes the same tack with daughters Corinne, 21, and Annalise, 5. Says the mutual pal: “Their time together is theirs. No kids allowed.”

That time has increased since August, when New Yorker Holmes bought a $3.8 million home in Calabasas, California, just a half-hour drive from the Foxx den. “Katie’s main reason for getting a place in L.A. was work,” says a confidant of Holmes, who recently joined the cast of Showtime’s Ray Donovan. “But Jamie was a convincing factor.” When she’s back east at her NYC rental apartment, the couple “talk and text all the time,” says the mutual pal. The Foxx insider has seen this firsthand. “He’ll step away and say, ‘Sorry, my girl is calling.’” And he

Tom's Marriage Destroyed

An HBO documentary uncovers Scientology secrets

➤ The union of Tom Cruise and Nicole Kidman was unequivocally doomed, reveals Going Clear: Scientology and the Prison of Belief. The HBO film (March 29, 8 P.M.) alleges the church labeled Kidman, 47, a PTS (Potential Trouble Source) after their 1990 wedding. To protect its asset, leader David Miscavige told his fixer, Marty Rathbun, to run surveillance. (A Scientology rep denies this.) Now an ex-member, Rathbun admits on camera: “I got a private investigator who physically installed a wiretap on her home.”

finds reasons to bring her up, adds the source. “He’ll see something and say, ‘Oh, my girl would love that.’”

Foxx’s friends aren’t the only ones who have noticed a change. The native Texan once kept multiple ladies in major cities on speed dial. His posthookup MO, according to one: “He’ll send you home on his Uber account and kiss you, but he won’t walk you downstairs.” Since Foxx has become more attached to Holmes, however, his calls “started to be fewer and fewer,” says the ex-fling. “He cut his roster down to focus on Katie.”

▷ COVERT AFFAIR

Still, a red carpet debut is not in the cards. “He and Katie have no desire to go public,” says the pal. “It’s not exclusive.” While Foxx’s past friendship with Holmes’ ex Cruise was once a concern — Foxx credited his 2004 Collateral costar with his own 2005 Oscar for Ray — the actor is no longer an issue. Cruise was not happy when he first learned of Foxx and Holmes’ hookups in 2013, a source says. More recently, in April 2014, Foxx mocked his onetime pal during an appearance on Britain’s Graham Norton Show. Firmly on Team Katie, Foxx impersonated Cruise in all of his intensity when they first met for their Jerry Maguire chemistry test.

In personal matters, discretion is Foxx’s inclination. “I like to stay quiet with anyone that I’m dating — that I’m really, really dating,” he once told Entertainment Tonight. That suits Holmes just fine. The woman who said in Glamour’s August issue “I am really focused on motherhood and work right now” is looking only for a good time. “It’s what she wants from Jamie,” says the mutual pal, “and they are both on the same page.”

ALL ABOUT Kate's NEW HOME

Who needs a palace? The duchess settles into her dream estate in Norfolk, England

BY SARAH GROSSBART
& OMI SCOBIE

Kate "feels a lot more relaxed and prepared with her second pregnancy," a source tells Us.

The Duchess of Cambridge was feeling chatty. As she roamed Margate, England's Turner Contemporary gallery, she struck up a conversation with artist Gavin Turk about his . . . beard. "She asked me how much I needed to take care of it," he told Us. "She seemed quite fascinated." Minutes later, she spoke with University of Creative Arts student Harley Russel about her second pregnancy. Gently stroking her Hobbs-clad bump, the royal proclaimed, "Not long now!"

One month, to be exact, which leaves Kate just a few weeks to put the finishing touches on Baby Cambridge's new palace. In November, the 33-year-old and husband Prince William (along with 20-month-old son George and cocker spaniel Lupo) bid farewell to their 20-room spread in London's Kensington Palace, moving 115 miles north to Anmer Hall. Located in Norfolk's sleepy village of Anmer (population: 63!), the 10-bedroom country house will serve as the family's main home for the next two years as William, 32, works as an East Anglian Air Ambulance pilot. And after a $2.2 million renovation, the Georgian manor — a stone's throw from Queen Elizabeth's Sandringham Estate retreat — is ready for its newest tenant. "The scaffolding came off the building at the start of the year and the painters and decorators left at the end of February," says a source. "Nearly everything is finished."

HOME SWEET MANOR

How's that for nest-ing? Before taking up residence, the duchess oversaw a complete overhaul of the 18th-century property (a gift from Queen Elizabeth shortly after Kate announced her first pregnancy). The roof was replaced, bathrooms were updated and both kitchens (one for the family, one for the help) were redone, says a source close to the couple. Workers also added a conservatory, outfitted two nurseries (royal heirs don't share) and renovated the pool, where George can practice swimming. As he paddles, the toddler will look at a perfectly landscaped vista. "They had trees and plants brought in for privacy," explains the insider. "Kate's looking forward to spring, when everything is grown in and she can spend more time outside with George and Lupo."

Much of the indoor decor was selected by Kate herself. The duchess scoured London stores for furniture (she purchased a pair of $2,000 side tables from home design retailer Andrew Martin) and local antique shops such as Mews Antiques Emporium for decorative pieces. Now, all that's left on Kate's plate — besides what she describes as “chasing after” her curious George — is to find someone to run the sprawling estate. When the original housekeeper defected for a job with the queen, Kate’s parents, Michael and Carole Middleton, pitched in. But on March 5, confirms a source, Kate and William placed an advert in Britain’s longest-running women’s magazine, The Lady, seeking a housekeeper with experience “ideally within a large private house.” (They also intend to hire a night nurse.) Among the tasks expected of the live-in help: cleaning all rooms “to a high standard,” scrubbing dishes and flatware and overseeing Kate’s massive collection of designer clothing. “On occasions,” reads the ad, “the role will also involve the preparation of meals, assisting with childcare and caring for dogs.”

► LIFE IN THE BURBS

After all, sometimes Mum and Dad need time off. A source says the pair are looking to make the most of their new town. While the tiny village boasts no shops or restaurants (the closest grocery store is a 10-minute drive away!), William is fond of nearby eatery the Dabbling Duck. (It won Eastern Daily Press’ Best Pub Food award.) “For William and Kate, being at Anmer Hall reminds them of their days in Anglesey,” a source says of their time as newlyweds living on the small Wales isle. “They’ll enjoy family time privately. Kate’s looking forward to life in Norfolk.” US

Kate Meets the Crawleys!

Four-year-old Oliver Barker (who plays George) gifted the duchess with a toy for Prince George.

Kate (in JoJo Maman Bebe) chatted with Phyllis Logan.

Duchess Kate has mingled with Reese Witherspoon, Beyoncé and President Barack Obama — but she’s still in awe of her favorite stars. Especially the cast of Downton Abbey. Kate received the, er, royal treatment March 12 during a visit to the Ealing Studios set in West London. “She was a bit starstruck,” Lesley Nicol, who plays cook Mrs. Patmore, tells Us. “We showed her a few tricks of the trade.” In the duchess’ curriculum: a stop at the hair and makeup trailer, a tour of the props room and an early peek at season 6. Wearing a pair of customized HRH headphones, Kate watched Michelle Dockery and Joanne Froggatt (who star as Lady Mary and Anna, respectively) film a scene. Still, it was the kitchen she fancied most. Nicol says the expectant mom was surprised to learn the food “looks incredible on screen, but you certainly wouldn’t want to eat it!” After a two-hour visit — and running 30 minutes behind — Kate said goodbye, telling the cast, “Thank you so much for letting me into your world.”

Sophie McShera (left) and Nicol gave the duchess a cake with the Downton logo. "We heard she liked chocolate," Nicol says.

Series creator Lord Julian Fellowes presented the royal with a signed copy of the show's first script.

Royals Salute the Troops

» A day after her set visit, Kate joined husband William, Queen Elizabeth II and other family members at St. Paul's Cathedral in London to honor soldiers killed in Afghanistan.

Kate (in a Beulah London wool coat) cradled her bump.

The Duchess of Cornwall and Prince Charles also attended.

With girlfriend
Miley Cyrus nowhere in sight,
Patrick Schwarzenegger
has a hot time in Mexico

The hormones flowed like tequila as masses of half-naked college students partied at Mango Deck Restaurante, Bar & Beach Club March 15. One junior from the University of Southern California happily made the rounds at the Cabo San Lucas, Mexico, hot spot, often with a pretty brunette at his side — or closer. At one point he even took a body shot off her bare stomach!

The lucky man in question: Miley Cyrus' love of four months, Patrick Schwarzenegger, flying solo for the weekend. But the cozy encounter was all in good spring-break fun, insisted the model, 21, via Twitter after photos went public March 16. Identifying the mystery woman as "one of my best friend's girlfriends," he vowed he'd "NEVER do anything against" the singer, 22. "Girls have guy friends," he wrote, "and guys have friends that are girls." In private, a source close to Arnold's son says, the reaction was stronger: "He's pissed about the photos."

▶ NOT A DEAL-BREAKER

Despite the inappropriate boyfriend behavior, there's no need to call in the wrecking ball on his romance with Cyrus just yet. "He's not worried about Miley making assumptions about the photos," says the source. "They both like to party. He knows full well she would be doing 1,000 percent more crazy stuff in the same situation." US

The model and his pal partied March 15 at a Cabo San Lucas, Mexico, beach bar.

The mystery brunette wore a Kappa Kappa Gamma head scarf.

During the revelry, Schwarzenegger leaned down to do a body shot off his companion (lime included).

That's something even cats find amazing.

1. My all-time favorite Madonna song is "Bitch, I'm Madonna" — naturally. And my least favorite is "Material Girl." I never, ever want to hear it again!

2. My favorite city is Rome. It's so beautiful. The light is soothing and calming to me, the architecture is splendid and the food is incredible. I totally love it.

3. I can't stand mushrooms. Or escargot. Yuck! It's like snot. Expensive snot.

4. The person I idolize most is Paul Farmer.

He's a doctor and activist who rebuilt the health-care system in Haiti even before the 2010 earthquake. He's done the same in Rwanda.

5. The last time I went grocery shopping was a year ago.

6. I miss absolutely nothing about growing up in Michigan. Nothing at all.

7. The person I most want to meet is President Obama. When the heck am I going to meet him? He just needs to invite me to the White House already. He probably thinks I'm too shocking to be there. I'm serious. If I was a little bit more demure . . . or if I was just married to Jay Z. Hey, if Jay would only take me as his second wife, then I'd score an invitation.

8. The one thing I'd never be caught dead wearing is a fur bikini.

9. My happiest moments were when my children [Lourdes, 18, Rocco, 14, David, 9, and Mercy, 9] were born and when I got married both times [to Sean Penn and Guy Ritchie].

10. My favorite part of my body is my eyes. My least is my dancer's feet. They are pretty disgusting.

11. I have found marriages don't last if you share bathrooms. The best thing about being single is there's no one to throw out of the bathroom when I want privacy.

12. The thing I miss least about marriage is being called "the wife." The worst.

THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT ME

The icon, 56 — whose 13th album, Rebel Heart, is out now — reveals her secrets

13. My most fattening food indulgence is either pizza or french fries. Or potato chips, actually. Love them all.

14. The last time I was starstruck was when [French actor] Alain Delon called me while I was in Copenhagen during my last tour. I was trying to get him to do an onstage cameo during a small show in Paris. I was shaking because I love him so much! I never met the dude and only knew him from movies. He was my ridiculous teenage crush.

15. I don't really watch TV. I only like two shows — True Detective and an Irish series called The Fall — and I'm not embarrassed about them. Many people say, "The Fall with Jamie Dornan," but I say, "The Fall with Gillian Anderson." She's so good.

16. The lifelong ambition I still want to fulfill is to go on a dream date with Drake — and only kiss him.

17. The most embarrassing moment of my life was falling off the stage — let me rephrase that, being choked off the stage by two little Japanese girls — at the 2015 Brit Awards. Extremely embarrassing!

18. The most beautiful thing I've ever seen was my daughter [Lourdes] playing the ukulele and singing "La Vie en Rose" for me.

19. My secret beauty ritual is to put ice on my eyes every morning. Ice, ice baby.

20. Speaking of, if I were trapped on a desert island with either [ex-boyfriend] Vanilla Ice or Dennis Rodman, I would pick Dennis. He has a better sense of humor. Plus, he could always wear my clothes.

21. The quality I most loathe in people is making assumptions. Not doing research, investigating or asking questions and just assuming something. Oh, that drives me bonkers. I also can't stand when I'm talking to someone and they're texting. My kids do it! It drives me up the wall. I always put my hand on their phones and ruin whatever they're doing.

22. I can't say what my worst date was, but there have been many. I'm a woman of the world, baby. One nonnegotiable attribute in a lover: He must not ever want to be away from me for more than two weeks at a time.

23. I have major claustrophobia. I don't like being stuck in small, enclosed spaces or in crowds. They freak me out.

24. My ideal day off is spent lying in bed all day — sleeping for a few hours, then waking up and watching old movies, like my favorite, Breathless. I eat in bed, have my children come and hang out with me, and then I fall back asleep. I never leave my bedroom.

25. My favorite memories of Michael Jackson were getting him to let down his guard. He was so shy. The time I succeeded most was after I got him drunk at the Ivy in Beverly Hills. I was driving my Mercedes and dared him to throw his sunglasses out the window. We couldn't stop laughing.

YOU WANT TO KNOW ABOUT...

GARNER'S MOM ROLE

Jennifer tells Us playing pregnant has its perks

After taking a year off, Jennifer Garner was eager to get back on set. "I was home a long time," the 42-year-old says of running the house while husband Ben Affleck, also 42, shot Gone Girl. "Now it's my turn!" In Danny Collins (out March 20), she plays an expectant wife who tries to help her aging rocker father-in-law (Al Pacino) reconnect with his son. "I love that it's about a family coming back together," she says. The mom of Violet, 9, Seraphina, 6, and Samuel, 3, gets familiar with Us.

Q: Any nerves working with Al Pacino?

Al works really hard at making people feel comfortable. But I did go back and watch The Godfather again. I wish I hadn't, because it made me more intimidated!

Q: What drew you to your character?

I hadn't played moms until recently, and I love it. That's where I am in my life: I know exactly how it feels to love a kid.

Q: Was wearing a fake bump tricky?

I'd be pregnant in every movie! You get to wear comfortable clothes and you have something to do with your hands.

Q: Does your job impress the kids?

Alexander and the Terrible, Horrible, No Good, Very Bad Day got some juice with them. And I heard about a kid at school saying, "Sera's mom is a movie star. Her dad just comes along." I was like, That's awesome!

She calls onscreen daughter Giselle Eisenberg "impressive and articulate."

The longest Garner has ever been away from her kids? "Five days!"

THE US BUZZZZ-O-METER

From good vibrations (one bee) to major quakes (five bees), the people, places and things that are keeping Us abuzz...

ONEPIECE JUMPSUITS

Getting dressed is never a snooze for Gigi Hadid and Khloé Kardashian, who wear the unisex cotton rompers around the house. ($74–$219, onepiece.com)

BARNANA

Ellen Pompeo chews on these organic, potassium-loaded banana bites. For a sweet treat, try the dark chocolate or peanut butter varieties—all flavors have 180 calories or less a serving! ($12, barnana.com)

BASZICARE TONER

Infused with rose oil and botanical extracts, the all-natural formula hydrates as it cleanses. Mila Kunis uses it to get glowing before big events. ($110 for 3.38 fluid ounces, baszicare.com)

BITMOJIS

When the monkey emoji just won't do, send pals a customized clone (Lena Dunham does!) with the iPhone and Android app. (Free, bitmoji.com)

PURITYRING

Vanessa Hudgens and Katy Perry chill out to the electronic music duo's eerie single "Push Pull." Their sophomore album, Another Eternity, is out now.

"We're each other's harshest critic and biggest fan," Erin (left) says of Sara.

THE FAMOUS FOSTER GIRLS

Erin and Sara parody life on the celebrity D-list

» Erin and Sara Foster know Hollywood can be absurd. On VH1's new mockumentary Barely Famous (Wednesdays, 9:30 P.M.), David Foster's daughters take social climbers and wannabe starlets to task by satirizing their thirst for fame. Playing fictionalized versions of themselves, aspiring writer Erin, 32, takes booty calls from a powerful playboy, while Sara, 34, uses past acting credits to score swag. "Our show pokes fun at L.A. culture," says Sara (mom of Valentina, 4, with tennis pro Tommy Haas, 36). "It's like The Comeback." STAR POWER Including A-list guests. With Nicole Richie and Kate Hudson making cameos, Erin's inner fangirl has come out. "Acting with Courteney Cox was crazy," the Friends addict tells Us. "I was terrified, but she couldn't have been nicer!"

SUKI WATERHOUSE

Fashion Silly.

SHOULD BE

She plays a "cheeky chick from the cool gang" in the flick Insurgent — and in real life! The actress humors Us with her clothing credos

Suki Waterhouse lives out of two suitcases. "Nothing is organized," the London-bred model, calling from her hotel room in L.A., told Us March 6. "Everything is dirty, crumpled." Yet the 23-year-old, who received a flower delivery from "Bradley" (that'd be boyfriend Bradley Cooper, 40) during the conversation, manages to pull together ensembles she hopes "evoke a sense of humor, whether it's with a silly hat or weird shoes." Waterhouse, who stars as Dauntless faction's fearless Marlene in Insurgent (out now), tells Us more.

“ I wore chunky Kurt Geiger boots I bought when I was 16 to the Met Ball last year. My Burberry gown was big and girlie — so far away from what I usually wear — and the boots made me feel authentically myself. I f--king loved it. ”

How do you describe your personal style?

I think you should be able to run in whatever you're wearing in case someone robs you or something. [Laughs.] I get, like, panic attacks if I'm wearing a tight bodycon dress that squeezes my legs together. Some days I want to look like Napoleon — dressed up quite boyish in jeans, boots and a man's shirt and coat. I am very feminine, but I was brought up wearing combat boots and doing karate every day. That was what I wanted to be: a karate person.

Do you wear flats more than heels?

Part of being stylish, for me, is being able to walk. If I don't feel comfortable, everything is off and I want to go home. I buy sneakers on eBay. I have a pair of bowling shoes from eBay that I wore, literally, for two years straight. I loved their ugliness. All my friends would talk about the ugly sneakers.

What other pieces have been your favorites over the years?

I have an Alexander McQueen men's ruffled shirt that a friend lent me one night when I was younger. I had a really amazing couple of weeks in that shirt, and I actually framed it and hung it in my room.

Still, you occasionally aim for a sexier vibe.

I wore a Burberry dress that was very '60s housewives. It was a tiny bit see-through but you wouldn't look at it and be like, "Oh, my God, that's so sexy and outrageous." I like the idea of dressing like a nun but having sexy underwear on underneath.

What other trends are you loving right now?

I think everyone should have something with fringing. I have a fringe dress from NK that you can go out and dance in and smack everyone with your fringing, which is awesome. And capes: I wore this Stella McCartney massive white cape — I felt a bit like a wizard, but it was so badass. And white turtlenecks. It's quite mysterious when you can't see someone's neck or arms. The more of your body people can't see, the more they are looking into your eyes.

Do you tailor hair and makeup to your outfits?

My motto is that it's better not to look your best so people can imagine that your best is really much better. Sometimes I'll just get my makeup done, so I have bird's nest hair but a pretty face.

What do you consider a good hair look?

I rinse my hair with Coca-Cola sometimes. I don't like my hair when it's washed — it's fine and limp — but Coca-Cola makes it tousled, like I've gone through the Amazon or something.

Black-ish

"I still got my swagger,"
Anderson
(with Shahidi)
insists.

Lovable Anthony Anderson locks in the title of TV's Best New Everydad

Modern Family has finally found its perfect time-slot companion in Black-ish, a match in terms of upbeat energy and heart. Granted, the freshman comedy isn't reinventing the wheel. Many of the wah-wahhh beats this week would have worked in a '50s sitcom — if the '50s had ever centered a sitcom on an upper-middle-class African American family, that is. Advertising whiz and devoted dad Andre

(Anthony Anderson, feeling every moment) is about to turn 40. Yes, his body suddenly seems to be failing him. In a huge laugh-getter, he loses a tooth while biting into a banana! Yes, he desperately tries to act like a hipster, wearing a hat that would give even Pharrell Williams a chuckle and booking guest star Jermaine Dupri to spin at his party. And yes, like countless TV wives and kids before them, mom Rainbow (Tracee Ellis Ross), the two teens (Marcus Scribner and Yara Shahidi) and the 6-year-old twins (Miles Brown and Marsai Martin) go to sometimes saccharine extremes to figure out what to give their dad on his big day. Yet when they present their final choice, it's truly heart-tugging, a reflection of the cast's natural chemistry. Black-ish is on its way to being a family classic. (ABC, 9:30 P.M.)

SUNDAY 3/29

Killing Jesus

Craven king Eoin Macken and queen Emmanuelle Chriqui also wish Jesus dead.

The story can't be faulted for lack of drama, but this starry three-hour account of the life and crucifixion of Jesus — based on Bill O'Reilly's book — is just inept. When King Herod (Kelsey Grammer) orders a massacre to rout out the young anointed Jesus, poor editing and excessive gore provide unwelcome distractions. Later, rudimentary scenes depict Jesus (Haaz Sleiman) as an unremarkable adult praying for fish and gathering disciples. Only when threatened governor Pontius Pilate (Stephen Moyer) orders the execution does Jesus display any passion. (National Geographic, 8 P.M.)

THURSDAY 3/26

Bones

Nothing says spring like a woman's remains in a tree trunk! This gruesome forensics drama, back from a winter break, usually entertains. But the latest WTF mystery for crime solvers Brennan (Emily Deschanel) and Booth (David Boreanaz) is a mishmash involving lesbian affairs, a possibly murderous preacher and that soupy carcass. Yech. And some affecting sentimentality — psychic friend Avalon (Cyndi Lauper) helps the team heal from a loss — turns cloying. Bones, heal thyself! (Fox, 8 P.M.)

SUNDAY 3/29

Blood, Sweat & Heels

Glam collides with tragedy as season 2 begins: Style expert Daisy Lewellyn, one of the reality hit's seven NYC women who want it all, has stage 3 bile duct cancer — and producers milk the shocker for all it's worth. After frenemy Melyssa Ford questions her recent flakiness, Lewellyn divulges the secret, and a blindsided Ford looks sad and rightfully mad. In lighter but no less interesting scenes, Mica Hughes, the "on" friend best taken in small doses, glibly reports she dumped her guy. Lively ladies, all of them. (Bravo, 9 P.M.)

Deschanel and Boreanaz's daughter is 4.

TUESDAY 3/24

PRETTY LITTLE LIARS

Benson

Game changer! On the macabre drama's season finale, Hanna (Ashley Benson) and the girls again clash with "A," bringing the most significant clues yet to the lethal stalker's identity. (ABC Family, 8 P.M.)

SATURDAY 3/28

KATY PERRY: THE PRISMATIC WORLD TOUR

Perry

Here's a special something for a special weekend (the Epix channel is free!): Pop sensation Katy Perry sings her hits in this guaranteed over-the-top two-hour concert, shot last fall in Sydney. (Epix, 8 P.M.)

SATURDAY 3/28

KIDS' CHOICE AWARDS

Jonas

It's all about Nick Jonas. The singer hosts the entertainment kudos, vies for top male singer and opens the live show with

"Jealous." If he ends up getting slimed too, he deserves a raise! (Nickelodeon, 8 P.M.)

OUT FRIDAY 3/20

Danny Collins

Before each concert, AARP-eligible rocker Danny Collins (Al Pacino) snorts cocaine, straps on a girdle and then shakes his hips on stage. But hold the applause: This is just another sappy and predictable family drama. Danny's life changes after he's given a 40-year-old fan letter written to him by John Lennon. Inspired by the late Beatle's advice to "stay true to yourself," he quits his tour and slowly but surely reconnects with his son (Bobby Cannavale) and daughter-in-law (Jennifer Garner). Pacino is game for winking humor and weary introspection. If only his film played a different tune.

Christopher Plummer (right) is drily funny as Pacino's manager.

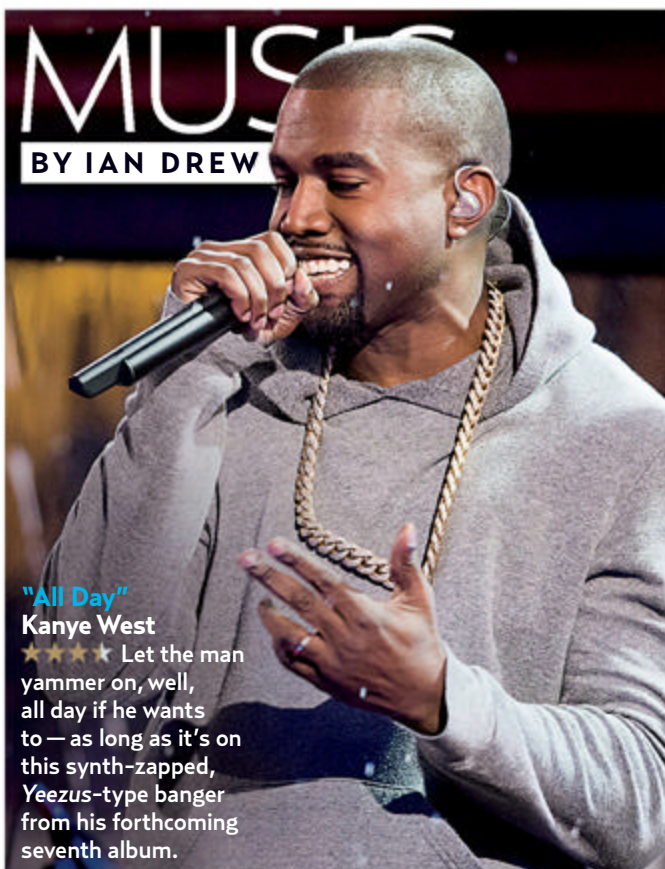

Penn seeks refuge in London.

OUT FRIDAY 3/20

The Gunman

Now it's Sean Penn's turn to play the grizzled action hero. And boy, did he pick the wrong project. He slums it as an assassin who becomes a target eight years after a kill in Congo. The plot is an earnest, jumbled mess; perhaps that's why Penn keeps retelling it. And yet it still adheres to the genre clichés, from the big bangs and the untrustworthy ally to the 20-minutes-too-long climax. Somewhere, Liam Neeson is shaking his head.

MUSIC

BY IAN DREW

"All Day" Kanye West

★★★★ Let the man yammer on, well, all day if he wants to — as long as it's on this synth-zapped, Yeezus-type banger from his forthcoming seventh album.

HOT TRACKS

Us rates the tunes now blowing up on Spotify

"I Really Like You" Carly Rae Jepsen

★★★★ It's no "Call Me Maybe," but stay on the line: The Canadian flicks off her one-hit-wonder status with an addictive, flirty pop single that gets Us really, really, really psyched.

"Believe" Mumford & Sons

★★★★ We already have Coldplay and Kings of Leon. No reason for the world's leading folk-rock group to chuck the banjos for this nice yet heard-it-elsewhere stadium filler.

"Nobody Love" Tori Kelly

★★★★ Come for the exuberant, doo-woppy R&B groove and the 22-year-old's starmaking vocal acrobatics. Stay for that completely insane run at the 2:30 mark. Uh, Ariana who?

"Conqueror" Estelle and Jussie Smollett

★★★★ Lucious Lyon has to give it up to his boy Jamal for this. The showstopping duet from the March 4 episode of Fox's Empire marries Smollett's sparkle with the Brit singer's shine.

NEW ON VIDEO

Wild

Reese Witherspoon nabbed a well-earned best actress Oscar nom for playing Cheryl Strayed—a plucky real-life heroine who doesn't come away with a guy, baby, job, home or trophy. Alone and in need of a fresh start, she sets out to hike the Pacific Crest Trail in 1995. Though she has no experience, Cheryl summons a resolve to withstand her treacherous environment. Beautifully shot, this absorbing drama was one of 2014's best. And Cheryl's survival story is a vivid lesson in perseverance. She's a true trailblazer. (Amazon and iTunes, $13–$15) MR

The film is based on Strayed's 2012 memoir.

Knightley is the only woman on Cumberbatch's team.

The Imitation Game

Triumph and tragedy meld together in this best picture Oscar nominee. Benedict Cumberbatch stuns as British mathematician Alan Turing, who builds a machine that decrypts Nazi messages during World War II. But he's crippled by a secret: He's gay, and so desperate to stay closeted that he proposes to a colleague (Keira Knightley). What a moving tribute to an extraordinary man. (Amazon and iTunes, $13–$15) MR

Hathaway and McConaughey argue about life and love in outer space.

Interstellar

Christopher Nolan's cosmic epic—while magnificent in scope—gets weighed down by its own ambition. Cooper (Matthew McConaughey) is a former NASA pilot asked to head up a space mission with three others (including Anne Hathaway) and find a habitable planet. Don't bother following the plot; better to just let the mind go free and behold the spectacle. (Amazon and iTunes, $15–$20) MR
